Signing of Agreement on Capital Transfer and Merger between Consolidated Subsidiaries

Tokyo, September 12, 2019 --- MUFG today announced that, following consideration and discussion between the parties, Mitsubishi UFJ Morgan Stanley Securities Co., Ltd. (“MUMSS”) and Mitsubishi UFJ Morgan Stanley PB Securities Co., Ltd. (“PB Securities”)^{*1} have concluded an agreement to merge, in line with the previously announced merger plan in MUFG’s press release of April 1, 2019^{*2}. In conjunction with this, MUMSS and MUFG Bank, Ltd. (“MUFG Bank”) have concluded a share transfer agreement.

1. Background and Objective

MUFG is promoting the wealth management business as one of its key strategies. It plans to strengthen its infrastructure for providing a wide range of solutions on a group basis, including asset management, asset and business succession, and real estate services.

MUFG aims to give our customers a higher quality of services by advancing the integration of the asset management services possessed by PB Securities, which have earned high acclaim^{*3} in Japan, with the full-service securities functions of MUMSS, as well as leveraging Morgan Stanley’s high-level know-how in the wealth management business.

2. Summary of the Merger and Share Transfer

MUMSS and MUFG Bank are shareholders (MUMSS: 75%; MUFG Bank 25%) in PB Securities. Under this merger agreement, the 24,407 shares of PB Securities held by MUFG Bank are to be transferred to MUMSS. PB Securities will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of MUMSS, then to be absorbed by MUMSS, which will be the surviving entity.
